

Learn Local

Over 100,000 learners

More than 8,000 staff and volunteers

Over 320 community organisations

And two adult education institutions

... Just around the corner

Do you want to learn something new in a welcoming environment?

Interested in courses that can be tailored directly to you?

Are you a business that needs to upskill your staff?

Every year over 100,000 Victorians choose to learn through Learn Local adult community education organisations.

From Melbourne to Mildura to Mallacoota, there is a Learn Local organisation near you that offers a range of education and training programs for people from all walks of life. Courses range from basic computer skills to Certificates and Diplomas in business or community services. The focus is on individual needs, tailoring programs for both the learner and businesses.

No matter what level of education or training you have had in the past, Learn Local can help. New skills can be life changing, offering job choices, further education and the chance to interact with others in your Learn Local community.

And all of this, just around the corner...
